WELTER HOUSE AT CENTENNIAL PARK PLANNED

Initial Steps Taken By Civic Group to Erect Second Building

SPRING CONCERT WILL AID FUND

Present Shelter House Is Booked For Entire Outdoor Season

Another shelter house for Centennial park appeared as a definite possibility today.

The park's principal summer recreation center of the city and district has been growing in popularity in recent years. As a result, a commission representative of the city, the single shelter house there now, used by church groups, lodges, fraternal organizations, family reunions and other groups has been booked practically for the coming season.

Club Approves Project

Steps toward the construction of second structure of similar type were taken at a meeting of the Salem Community band which unanimously approved a plan to add to the park facilities.

The club, during the past year, has been accumulating a special fund which will be used to help pay for the building.

Annual Spring Concert

The annual spring concert of the Salem Community band which was presented a similar event a year ago. Funds from the concert will be added to the club fund to build the shelter house.

Date Is Tuesday, May 5

The concert will be given on Tuesday night, May 5, in the High school auditorium, the event being planned as a special feature of the city's annual Music week observance.

Ray Bartholomew, director, and Roy South Metzger, manager of the band, are already busy with preparations for the concert.

Best Dog Trophy Given At Canton To Newfoundland

(By Associated Press)

CANTON, March 6.—Champion Sallor Boy, a black and white Newfoundland won the trophy as best dog at the conclusion of the McKinley Kennel club all breed show last night.

Miss Elizabeth B. Loring of Ashland, Mass., is owner of the winner, which defeated five others in the entire show 349 dogs were entered representing 39 breeds.

Methodist Church To Present Concert

Popular and popular music will be the program for the concert on March 26 to be given by the choir and orchestra at the Methodist church.

The program is a benefit for the church and the recreation committee of the church. A feature of the concert will be "talent night" which by the junior church groups.

Bartholomew, musical director, is in charge of a choir and orchestra ensemble number.

NON-TECHNICAL

Germany's new airship, the Luftschiff Zeppelin—safest, fastest, most comfortable and most beautiful ship ever built—made the first of a series of technical inspection flights Wednesday. After three hours in the air the ship was brought to earth and pronounced satisfactory.

Obviously, Germany has something on the ball that other countries don't have in constructing and operating airships. Alone, it has succeeded so far in keeping them from being outlawed by the curse of disasters which have discouraged the United States, Great Britain and France.

But not all of Germany's success, perhaps, is due to technical skill. Many who are skeptically interested in the possibilities of the airship both military and commercial fields will notice the wish of Germany's Dr. Hugo Eckener, who hoped in launching the new ship that it "might be favored by the same lucky star as the Graf Zeppelin." If the wind hadn't blown at the wrong time, if it hadn't rained and if a few other things hadn't happened, the United States still might be thrilled occasionally by the spectacle of the U. S. S. Akron and the U. S. S. Macon poking their silvery noses out of cloud banks.

SOMEBODY'S KIDDING

Gov. Eugene Talmadge, the Georgia firecracker, is a good deal like a championship contender who has been knocked out of the ring on the eve of the big fight by a sparring partner. In the nation's first primary test, in Georgia's Seminole county, the governor lost to Franklin D. Roosevelt by a margin of more than five to one.

He was supposed to be invulnerable in his own state. Particularly, he was supposed to have the rural counties eating out of his hand, and Seminole county has a population of only a little more than 7,000. Apparently somebody's kidding when Gov. Talmadge is spoken of as a threat to Mr. Roosevelt among Georgia's dirt farmers.

One primary doesn't mean much, ordinary. In this case, however, it means that suspender-snapping Eugene Talmadge is going to be dropped from the position of favorite in the Georgia primaries to that of a long shot. For the time being, furthermore, he won't be even so much as a long shot in Mississippi, Alabama and Arkansas.

ONE LITTLE MAN

To thousands of Americans who have heard the indefatigable Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa (the accents the first syllable) speak during the last few weeks, Japan suggests something besides militarism and a possible war with the United States for control of the Pacific ocean.

Dr. Kagawa belongs in many classifications—preacher, economist, social worker, philosopher and even politician. But to him and to those who are trying to understand him his work as a preacher comes first. His primary objective is the development of practical Christianity.

Ninety-nine percent of Japanese, he says, are opposed to their government's rampant militarism. If Americans could understand them instead of watching apprehensively the antics of the remaining one percent, there would be no danger of war.

At least it should give the generals and admirals something to think about that one little man, in poor health, with no money and with nothing behind him but a vision of social justice based on Christian precepts is making a deeper impression on thousands of Americans than they are able to make. The trouble is, there are so many of them and only one Dr. Kagawa—and there's so little of him.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, March 6.—Thoughts while strolling: No one can be so showy with a violin as Rubinstein. A humorist the public rarely sees: H. I. Phillips. Silver fox capes have pushed ermine and mink aside. Few Rubie actors can put the hay into their stuff like Chic Sale.

Add Mona Lisa expressions: Alice Hughes. What-ever became of Gus Shy? Those fly-up-the-creek Broadwayites who gather on the old Palace corner at 4 p. m. Look alike: Martin Mooney and Jimmy Walker. Kate Smith chuckles over every joke about her weight. Shrewd lady!

With a bright yellow tie Groucho Marx could pass for P. P. A. Mayor La Guardia is one of the sitters-on-one-foot. Like Charles Laughton and Col. Jos. Hatfield. Giving away cash and autos has business beyond control in bars and night clubs. Wish Eugene O'Neill would quit being gloomy a while.

Frostiest smile among the movie stars: Spencer Tracey's. To every cop Edward Mulrooney is a symbol of the heights a "harness bull" may attain by being on the level. No one has ever given the finesse to official greetings Grover Whalen did.

Vincent Lopez has the glossiness of a seal coming up from a dive. Slick looking fellow No. 2: George Wrangell, society scribbler. Another winter such as this and my share of New York goes to the first asker—with a moth-eaten raccoon coat to boot.

Probably no layman is so stoked with accurate medical knowledge as Henry L. Henken He can discuss the human anatomy like a lecturing professor and surgeons find that, given a complete history of a case, he becomes a really expert diagnostician. He can quote medical phrases as technical as cyclopedias on the subject. This learning came from living so close to Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore and being on friendly visiting terms with various staffs, plus a natural interest in physiology. Most of his midnight companionships—the hour he likes to relax—are with physicians and surgeons sharing his favorite repast, pretzels, cheese and tall beakers of Pilsener.

Year after year the inevitable sign of spring for New Yorkers is not the robin tugging at the Central Park worm, but rather the annual blurb of fashionable tailors. It reads about the same, the burden being that all men shortly are going to crack the cocoon in raiment that will pale the satins of the old minstrel parade. We shall fare forth, tra la, in mustard-toned vests, plum-hued pants and heliotrope jackets. There will probably be a dash of Indian yellow at our throats, dotted with ox-blood red, and it would not be surprising if most of us carried pink sun parasols. And what happens every year? Most of the males go right on selecting another blue serge suit. That's what happens.

Britain has more dressy gadgets in a day than America in a year. The bank clerks in silk hats, morning coats and ledger-ruled trousers. The white derbies, pullovers, the Cockney pearl buttons, A-cot ties and so on without end. I met up with a Londoner in a downpour on a Loch Lomond boat one time with various impedimenta strapped over his shoulders, binoculars, telescopes, cameras, magnifying glasses, etc. But his coat is what I'm getting at. It started modestly around the neck, but on its way downward it spread to the circumference of Piccadilly Circus. And could be hung with almost everything, including a kiddie car. Long live the Burberry boys!

I was thinking today of the bird on the aisle who used to snore loudly through the song "Please Go Away and Let Me Sleep!" when the repertoire show came to town. And when the performer suddenly stopped, called for the bouncer and the disturber was roughly propelled to the back of the house, he would begin to sing the chorus in a clear, high tenor. All of us fell for the "plant" like a hod of brick. Fun at the crossroads.

Gene Ahern, the folksy cartoonist, who has America's finest set of etchings, decided not long ago to have a little rural retreat to vary life from his Hollywood home. He invited his friends for a house warming at, ahem, "Lakeside View." Two days later he cancelled the invitations by telegraph. "I saw a fellow approaching the lake with a blotter," he explained.

Thingumabobs: Greta Garbo likes generous dashes of garlic. . . Maybe that's the reason. . . Harry Richman was once a $60-a-week dress salesman. . . Vincent Astor's almost constant companion is Prince Obelinsky, who divorced Astor's sister. . . The Weaver Brothers and Elvira have quit vaudeville to retire to their Missouri farm. . . Monkeys do not search each other for fleas. . . They search for a skin scale something like human dandruff, and sweat tasting.

THE STARS SAY

For Saturday, March 7.

Judging by the lunar transits, with the moon in opposition to the powerful planet Saturn, the orb of depression, limitation and crystallization, it may be difficult to make much headway on this day. Under the circumstances, it would be well to postpone important affairs until better planetary auspices prevail and to devote what energies there are to caring for the health and to conserving the forces.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which it will be difficult to make any constructive headway in the affairs. There is a procrastinating and obstructing influence to cope with, using what patience and perseverance there may be in reserve to bridge over a period of depression. Care for the health is a main consideration. Safeguard all property interests.

A child born on this day may be critical, complaining and introspective unless given early training in overcoming such a nature. It should be given an optimistic and cheerful outlook on life.

BACKACHE

IF YOU have suffered from severe and persistent backache you will agree it can be one of the most disabling of all complaints. Yet the sufferer forgets about it as soon as the acute pain has disappeared. This is unfortunate because sooner or later the pain and discomfort return unless the underlying cause is removed.

Frequent inquiries come to me asking about backache and what can be done to relieve it. It is impossible to give one answer that will be complete and satisfactory because there are many kinds of backache and many causes for it. Indeed, this complaint is not a disease, but is a symptom or sign of some physical disturbance, which perhaps is located at a distance from the seat of pain.

The most common causes of backache are arthritis, wrong posture of the body, injury and strain. It may be due to some internal disease such as kidney stones or an infection of the kidneys, liver, gall bladder, urinary bladder or prostate. In the female, backache may be due to some disorder of the womb or ovaries.

Broken or fallen arches, or the wearing of poorly-fitted shoes, will lead to incorrect balance of the body and among other symptoms cause backache. In most cases of this sort, the victim complains of pain in the legs as well as the back.

Often, backache is due to irritation or inflammation of the muscles of the back. The pain comes on suddenly and is made worse by each movement. It may be so great as to require the administration of an opiate. This is the type of backache commonly referred to as "rheumatism" and "lumbago."

Other Causes
"Sciatica," inflammation of the sciatic nerve, is sometimes confused with backache. The victim of sciatica suffers from backache it is true, but the pain is mainly confined to the back of the thigh and leg. It is a chronic disorder and may prove to be quite disabling.

Where the lowest part of the back bone meets the hip bone it forms a joint, but one without much movement. Sometimes there is a slip here, perhaps a tear of the tissue. This is called "sacroiliac strain," which may be the cause of violent backaches.

If you are subject to attacks of backache, do not depend on self-diagnosis and home remedies. My advice is to consult with a doctor. He can tell you definitely the underlying cause of the disorder, but only after a complete and thorough examination has been made. Treatment is unlikely to be helpful unless it is founded on pretty complete knowledge of the patient's physical condition.

In doubtful cases x-ray examination will reveal if something is wrong with the bony framework of the body that may be the cause of backache.

Examination of the blood and urine will show whether there is any internal disorder. Do not neglect backache. Accept it as a sign of weakness of some sort and take the necessary precautions to overcome it.

Answers to Health Queries

W. E. M. Q.—What do you advise for the "itch?" This red, itching rash is more troublesome at night and when it is warm.

ITALY ACCEPTS LEAGUE APPEAL

Will Declare Peace With Ethiopia Under Certain Conditions

BY CHARLES H. GUPTILL, Associated Press Foreign Staff
ROME, March 6.—Italy will accept the League of Nations appeal for peace with Ethiopia, an official source said today, as a basis for discussion under certain conditions.

The conditions were not disclosed exactly, but the principal one was declared to be that territory already occupied by Italy in east Africa must be considered hers, and must not form any part of the peace negotiations.

Approve Proposal
(This prediction of a conditioned Italian acceptance of the league reconciliation committee's appeal for an end to hostilities, with a view to definite peace discussions within the framework of the league, followed an Addis Ababa announcement of approval of the proposal—without reservations.)

While Premier Mussolini's government still studied its formal reply to the proposal, dispatched last Tuesday, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs Fulvio Suvich and the Austrian Prince Ernst von Starhemberg surveyed the relations of their two nations, and the European situation as it affected them, in a one-hour conference.

These conversations formed a prelude to a conference this afternoon between the Austrian vice-chancellor and Il Duce.

Every effort was being made to bring Austrians and Italians to land to Starhemberg's visit the simple aspect of an inspection of Italy's fascist blackshirt militia.

Telegrams Congratulations
Before arriving in Rome, Von Starhemberg had telegraphed to Mussolini congratulations for the victory of the blackshirts in East Africa.

"Best wishes for the future of the fascist symbol," Austria's vice-chancellor messaged.

He gave a luncheon today for fascist officials, and will preside tomorrow over a fascist review.

Diplomatic sources said, however, that many other subjects formed a program of his discussions, among them an extension of the Italo-Austro-Hungarian accord to other states willing to join. Preparation for the Italo-Austro-Hungarian conference here March 18, a possible Italo-German rapprochement and relations between Italy and Austria under sanctions.

SEED CONDITION HELD SERIOUS
Corn for Planting Will Be Scarce, County Agent Says

The seed corn situation in Ohio is the worst since that of 1918, according to R. D. Lewis, of the state extension department. County Agent Floyd Lower says Columbiana county is included in this report. Corn for seed, unless artificially dried, contained on an average of 19 per cent to 20 per cent moisture last fall. Corn with 16 per cent to 20 per cent moisture kept at zero and slightly under for a period of 24 hours will usually be seriously damaged.

Reports since the sub-zero temperatures of Jan. 22 and 28 indicate that the situation is very serious this year. Good seed for planting will be scarce this spring. Mr. Lower says not to wait until planting time to check your supply of seed corn.

He says: "Discard all ears that to the eyes show evidence of the disease, immaturity, or freezing damage. Make a simple test of remaining corn saved for seed. Take two kernels from each 100 or more ears, choosing at random from among the seed corn. If nine out of every 10, or 90 per cent of the kernels show strong sprouts, the seed should be satisfactory for planting. If there is less than 90 per cent strong sprouts each ear to be planted should be tested separately." The rag doll test or paper doll test is one of the easiest and most simple tests to use. Anyone desiring detailed instructions on testing can secure them at the county agent's office in Lisbon.

Mothers read this:

A CONSTIPATED child is so easily straightened out, it's a pity more mothers don't know the remedy.

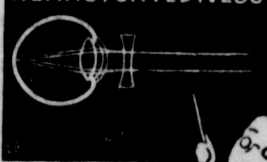

A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

Doctors use liquid laxatives. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. And today, there are fully a million families that will have no other kind in the house.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, now so widely known that you can get it all ready for use at any drugstore.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, March 6.—Despite a steady tone at Liverpool, wheat prices here averaged lower early today. Absence of any aggressive export demand or of urgent call from domestic mills had a bearish influence.
Opening 1/2 cent off to 1/2 up. May 99 1/2-1.00, July 90-90 1/2, wheat then sagged all around. Corn started unchanged to 1/2 lower. May 60 1/2-3/4, and afterward showed a general decline.

HOME MAKING HELPS

THOSE OF us who neglected the kitchen when it came to gift giving, can remedy this sad state of affairs easily. For just now the shops are showing handsome new gadgets all designed to bring joy, usefulness and an attractive note to the kitchen. They are in keeping with the program of the utilitarian combined with eye-appeal. Modern equipment for the kitchen has caught the current craze and is now streamlined as, for example, a new electric beater and iron, both of which subscribe to the streamlined silhouette. Included in the specifications of the iron that it is light in weight, of one thousand-watt power and heat controlled. The tapering streamlines certainly should help to make the ironing that much easier and more efficient.

New China Sets
There are some new and fascinating china sets, including some grand pottery for salads or for Sunday night supper. Each plate in the set of six is decorated with a different vegetable in true and handsome coloring. Then there is a hard-ome breakfast set done on the traditional English lines with its egg cup and covered dish for toast. This comes in various colors, and for handles there are large strawberry knobs in a luscious red. Another grand idea is a matched glass set comprising 50 pieces and including, besides the various glasses, a shaker, stirrers, mudders and picks. This is surprisingly inexpensive.

If there is much repair work to be done and there is someone round the house who is right handy, then you will want a neat little cabinet with hammer at the side and three shelves on which glass jars filled with tacks, hooks and nails and other hardware. The glass jars that permit the contents to be seen at once make this a real inspiration.

Other New Features
For Sunday night or buffet suppers, there are some peachy ideas. They include a sturdy and attractive corn popper, electric, of course. A heat plate inside does a quick and efficient job of popping. More pretentious is a chromium buffet server with heat resistant glass food containers that will keep foods piping hot. This model has connections for low or high heat and comes in various sizes.

Another good item is a set consisting of waffle iron, tray, a black glass bowl, syrup pitcher and a ladle for measuring the amount of batter to make one waffle. No fear of not doing right by your waffle with such an assistant.
In the small gadget class we find an efficient nut meat chopper, an ice chipper and that long-awaited-for boon, a nut cracker that will crack all kinds of nuts without crushing the nut meats. That item must have been thought up by Santa Claus! Another grand aid for the kitchen worker is a rack to put on the wall. This contains rolls of kitchen paper, including wax parchment, garbage pail, paper and hand towel.

Then there's another gem of an idea, a breakfast tray, the tray part of which lifts up and has a mirror on the under side and a compartment for make-up. This is the sort of thing that, while one may not exactly need it at the moment, there is likely to be use for it in case of an unexpected guest or for a convalescent.

MONOXIDE FEAR MAY BE ENDED

Invention Prevents Formation of Gas In Autos

JOPLIN, Mo., March 6.—Experiments begun 40 years ago by Don L. Cross formed the basis for creation of a carbon monoxide eliminator which he has patented and preparing to manufacture for use on gasoline engines, including automobiles.

His device is expected to be used mainly on automobiles and will result in the saving of thousands of lives lost annually through the deadly gas.

Cross, former newspaper editor of Cameron Mo., and Bentonville, Ark., began experimenting with carbon monoxide 40 years ago when he was a student at Cameron and long before the invention of the automobile which brought the carbon monoxide menace.

Chemical Solution Used
The eliminator works through a chemical solution which creates a mist and prevents the formation of carbon monoxide. The chemicals are placed in water before being sealed in a glass container.

The kind of chemicals used, Cross says, are known only by himself. The secret formula has been placed in a bank vault so that his heirs may continue manufacture of the article. Part of the chemicals used are found in the mines of the Missouri-Kansas-Oklahoma mining district. Others are prepared by Cross.

Test Called Successful
Cross conducted exhaustive experiments with the eliminator before seeking patents. He used himself as a tester several times. In one instance he started the motor of a car in a tightly closed garage with two live rabbits. The motor ran for 90 minutes. When Cross opened the doors the rabbits scampered out in perfect condition. Ordinarily, the experiment would have killed the rabbits in a few minutes.

Cross has obtained American patents as well as patents in several other countries. Many offers of royalties already have been made but Cross intends to start his own factory and manufacture the eliminators. He is now negotiating with several bus lines for installation of the devices.

CLASS ELECTS AT COLUMBIANA

Mrs. C. H. Koch, President of Presbyterian Sunday School

COLUMBIANA, March 6.—Twenty members were present at the monthly social meeting of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Presbyterian Sunday school Wednesday evening, when they met at the home of Mrs. C. H. Koch, with Mrs. Ralph Irons as associate hostess. Mrs. H. E. Wilhelm led the devotionals and the president, Mrs. Alfred Barrow, had charge of the business session.

The annual election of officers was held, as follows: President, Mrs. C. H. Koch; vice president, Mrs. C. P. Esterly; secretary, Mrs. George White; treasurer, Mrs. J. V. Gleaton (re-elected); corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. J. Barrow. The program included a chapter from the study book, "Eastern Women, Today and Tomorrow," presented by Mrs. R. E. Brumby. The class accepted an invitation to be guests of the "Philo Class" of the Methodist Sunday school taught by Mrs. Hazel Reaick, March 19, at the M. E. church. A delicious lunch was a concluding pleasure. The next regular meeting will be at the church with Mrs. Charles Keyser and Mrs. Melvin Wenderoth as hostesses.

Townsend Club Meets
The Townsend club met Wednesday evening at the municipal building with a large attendance. The president, Will Kenny, presided and the guest speaker was Rev. J. A. Murch, pastor of the East Palestine Christian church.

He gave a chart-talk, using figures to illustrate his points. The program included accordion music by Ardy Andrich.

Raymond Richards, amateur magician, will present a program at next week's meeting, and an out-of-town speaker will also be present. A large group of Columbiana members attended a mass meeting at New Waterford Thursday evening, when Mr. Baker of Cleveland, a Townsend club organizer spoke and assisted in the organization of a unit at New Waterford.

Kiwanis Meeting
Twenty-one members of the Columbiana Kiwanis club attended a divisional meeting of Kiwanis clubs Wednesday at the Presbyterian church, Lisbon. Al Cox, governor of the Ohio district, was the chief speaker, with Lieut. Governor Seward Daw, Wellsville, as chairman. Representatives were present from the clubs of Steubenville, Toronto, East Liverpool, East Palestine, Salem, Leetonia, Wellsville, Minco Junction, Canton, Akron, Columbiana and Lisbon. Each club had a small part on the program.

Party at Fisher Home
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stahle, Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Withers, Petersburg; Miss Irene Shaffer and Harold Ward, Beaver Falls, Pa., Wednesday evening. "Monopoly" was the evening's entertainment, with luncheon a concluding pleasure.

Hear Dr. Kagawa
Rev. J. C. Strubel, Rev. D. S. Lamb, Rev. G. S. Straubel, Rev. G. A. Funk, Rev. A. S. Gleason, in company with Rev. Boyd Cubbage of Leetonia attended the Christian Japanese meeting Wednesday in Cleveland and heard the address of Dr. Kagawa, noted Japanese missionary and peace advocate.

Guests in Fisher Home
Wednesday visitors in the home of Mrs. Charles Fisher were Mrs. T. G. Hadaway, Mrs. Max Hadaway, Miss Catherine Hadaway and Mrs. Samuel Elser, North Lima.

Mrs. Roy D. Pavey, Columbus, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. R. J. Esterly, and family, Vine st.

Hold Joint Meeting
The annual joint meeting of the Columbiana Sorosis and Music clubs was held Wednesday evening at Grace Reformed church with the former organization as hosts. About 60 were present including several members of the Salem Music Study club who furnished the program, which was of an instrumental nature. Piano, violin and mandolin numbers were interspersed with readings. A lunch was a concluding pleasure served by the following sorosis members: Mrs. C. E. Bender, Mrs. J. S. Brown, Mrs. Edw. Biegan, and Miss Mary Buzard.

Make This To Live Up Housework!

Pleased with the world—and the world pleased with you! That's how it'll be, once you've donned a gay Anne Adams house dress like this! Colorful, cool, comfortable. It's a honey to make and to wear—thanks to its jiffy wrap-around, tie-in-the-back design. Particularly if you interpret the pattern in one of the charming, color-fast new cottons. The one Anne Adams chose for this model is percale—bright red and blue on a white ground. Gingham, broadcloth, seersucker, muslin or chambray would do you equally proud. The pattern is X2691, designed in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 44. Size 16 takes 4 1/4 yards 36-inch fabric.

Send 15c today for pattern X2691 to The Salem News Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York, N. Y.

Columbiana Group Holds Tea Program

COLUMBIANA, March 6.—Twenty-eight members were present at the quarterly tea of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. D. S. Lamb, Mrs. S. L. Morris conducted the devotionals and Mrs. F. D. Lodge served as program chairman in the absence of Mrs. H. P. Gilmore.

The program consisted of a talk on "Peru" by Mrs. Kenneth Bell; a talk on "Ecuador" by Miss Lois Roller, and a talk on "Colombia" by Mrs. J. A. Robinson. Mrs. Lamb served a South American lunch. She was assisted by Mrs. L. I. Garrard, Mrs. John Coyle and Mrs. J. S. Brown.

Hear Chailleaux
Columbiana persons attended the meeting in Canton Wednesday night when Homer Chailleaux, national Legion Americanism chairman, spoke. The local Legion auxiliary is sponsoring bingo parties at 8 p. m. each Saturday in the Legion hall.

Club Entertained
Mrs. V. C. Basinger welcomed members of the Do Drop in club Tuesday afternoon at her home, Duquesne st. Seven members were present and the afternoon was spent in a pleasant social manner, after which a lunch was served by the hostess.

The annual birthday party of the Columbiana chapter, Eastern Star lodge will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday. An appropriate service is being planned and officers and members of the Leetonia chapter will be guests.

Albert Ward from the county auditor's office will be at the Citizens' Savings bank today and Saturday to assist personal property tax payers in filing their reports.

STOCKHOLM—This year marks the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Swedish postoffice, and to observe the event a series of commemorative stamps have been issued, showing the growth of the service from its early stages.

Charlotte Wynters and Buck Jones in the western "The Ivory-Handled Gun," showing at the Grand tonight and Saturday.

"Professional Soldier," Victor McLaglen's new starring picture, will be shown at the State tonight and tomorrow. With McLaglen in the film are Freddie Bartholomew, Gloria Stuart and Michael Whalen.

Professional Soldier
McLaglen plays the part of a professional soldier who will fight anything for a price. He is hired by a revolutionist group in Europe to kidnap the king of a small European kingdom. Freddie Bartholomew turns out to be the king and in the mountain hideout the soldier and king become great pals. Gloria Stuart, a lady of the court abducted to take care of the boy, falls in love with McLaglen's lieutenant, Michael Whalen.

A counter-revolution starts things humming and the soldier finds plenty of chances to fight when the young king is kidnapped from him. Tay Garnett directed.

Buck Jones appears at the Grand in his new western, "The Ivory-Handled Gun." Others in the cast are Charlotte Wynters and Walter Miller.

Feud Is Background
A feud is the background for the story. Buck owns an ivory handled gun and so does his deadliest enemy. Each strive to gain possession of the matching gun and thus the plot of the story is formed. Mystery in the form of a murder, with a brass shell as the clue, romance and excitement make up the film.

Charlotte Wynters, who plays the feminine role in Buck Jones' western, was born in Wheeling, W. Va., and makes her screen debut in this film. She received her education at Columbus. She gained success on the stage and her Broadway appearances include "The Tin Soldier," "Air Minded," "Bad Girl" and "The Passionate Prince."

PLAN MEETING AT GREENFORD

Green Township Farm Bureau Meeting Set For Next Tuesday

GREENFORD, March 6. — The Green Township farm bureau will meet Tuesday evening, March 10, at the home of William Kenrich. Following the business session a program will be given.

The topic for the evening will be "Poultry." An exchange of favorite recipes will be held by the ladies.

To Repair Roads

Roads have been badly broken nearby during the winter where the drainage was bad and excessive freezing resulted. Township trustees will begin work on the Green-Beaver township line road as soon as favorable weather permits.

Greenford's basketball team received a cup for having won second place in the Mahoning county tournament at Boardman last Saturday night.

Grange Convenes

Greenford grange met Tuesday in grange hall. The lecture hour was in charge of Miss Mary Beardsley with George McConnell as worthy master.

Friendly Exchange

The Friendly Exchange club met with Mrs. Lottie Slagle for a social time and a quilting bee.

The dance in K. of P. hall Friday night will be open to the public, resuming the Friday night dances.

Will Speak Monday

Dr. Oberly, a missionary located in Africa, will lecture on his work in that country at the Lutheran church Monday night, March 9.

H. E. Dustman is staying with his father Isaiah Dustman on the Goshen road, who is seriously ill.

Hospital Patient

The six year old daughter, Betty Mae, of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dyke was taken to the Salem City hospital Friday for a mastoid operation.

Joseph Redman and wife and Mrs. Lottie Slagle visited with their mother, Mrs. Melissa Charlton in Girard Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Jones.

Held Joint Session

The Ladies Aid and Missionary society held a joint meeting Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lang. The topic for discussion was "Latin America."

Class Will Meet

The Women's Bible class of the Lutheran church will meet March 12 at the home of Mrs. Syd Bennett for its regular monthly business meeting.

Recent Visitors

W. W. Bush of Pittsburgh visited his parents, A. W. Bush and wife, last weekend.

Byron Crawford and family visited his sister, Mrs. Della Busch at Saunder Hill Sunday.

Irony of Elevator Strike

Forced to do a little stair climbing themselves, James J. Bambrick, (right), president of the New York Building Service Union, and George Scalise, vice-president of the international union, get a taste of what tenants in New York apartments and office buildings are experiencing. The two leaders were forced to walk when lift service in the strike headquarters building was curtailed.

Severe Sunburn Dangerous

Physicians Learn Of Death Rays Concealed In Sunlight

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Mich., March 6.—The danger of too much sunburn was emphasized today in a report to the American College of Physicians on death rays in sunlight which kill guinea pigs.

Dr. Max Pinner of Oneonta, N. Y., and Dr. Aaron Margulis of Tucson, Ariz., told the final session of the annual meeting of the college how the guinea pigs had died of relatively small doses of sunlight alone, with marked pathologic changes in their organs.

Animals whose abdomens were shaved were exposed to the solar radiation under conditions similar to those which exist at an altitude of about one-half mile and a latitude of 32 degrees north. They died within one hour.

Similar results occurred when sunlight, from which the ultra violet rays had been screened, leaving the visible sunlight and the infrared radiation of the light spectrum. When examined after the death the guinea pigs were found to have congestion of the lungs, liver, spleen, gastrointestinal tract, kidneys and adrenal glands. These conditions were declared by physicians to offer a probable explanation for the sickness which follows some severe cases of sunburn.

FISCH AGAIN IN LINDBERGH CASE

Railroad Watchman Says He Saw Suspect Near Kidnaping Spot

(By Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., March 6. — A railroad crossing watchman's story of seeing the mysterious Isidor Fisch, now dead, near Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's home several times before the famous flier's first son was fatally kidnaped, was labeled worthless today by Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., who helped convict Bruno Richard Hauptmann of the crime.

Alfred Hammond, the watchman, said he not only recognized photographs of Fisch after Hauptmann's arrest, but also told the state police. Hammond said one of the troopers replied he must be wrong "because Fisch died in Germany broke."

Hauck, prosecutor of Hunterdon county, where Hauptmann's trial was held, said every phase of the watchman's story had been checked four years ago, and that when Hauptmann was arrested, Hammond was unable to identify either him or Fisch.

Have Studied All Angles

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, also said Hammond's statement had been studied carefully and all angles investigated. The watchman, Schwarzkopf said, had never identified any one and the investigation had been barren of results.

of the kidnaping in the belief it has not been completely solved.

Throughout Hauptmann's trial, his lawyers hinted time and again Fisch, who died supposedly penniless in Germany in the spring of 1934, may have had knowledge of the kidnaping. Hauptmann swore the $14,000 Lindbergh ransom money found in his Bronx garage had been left in a shoebox in his care by the consumptive furrier who had been his business partner.

Newton Falls Eliminates Youngstown Chaney From Tourney

South Quintet Edges Scienceville, 26 to 25, In Thrilling Contest

Even Edges Niles, 33 to 31; Second Round of Play In Tournament Will Be Completed Tonight; Semi-Finals, Finals Tomorrow

YOUNGSTOWN, March 6.—Thrilling contests again marked the night of play in the sectional Class A basketball tournament at High floor here last night. Newton Falls came through with the upset of the tourney by defeating Youngstown Chaney, 29 to 23, Rayen barely edged Niles, 33 to 31, and Youngstown South edged the Girard meets Boardman, Sebring tangles with Struthers Youngstown South battles a city rival, Youngstown Rayen.

WINONA LOSES CLASS B GAME

Village Quintet Is Victim of Columbians, 34 to 12

Hustling to a big lead in the first period, the Columbian cagers had an easy time romping to a 34 to 12 victory over Winona in one of the three Class B league contests played at the Memorial building last night.

The Columbian led 20 to 6 at half time and 24 to 9 at the close of the third frame. Malloy, Panzetti and Detell were outstanding during the contest.

Missing frequent attempts at the foul line, the Methodist quintet lost out to the Baptist cagers, 34 to 29. The Methodist trailed 16 to 10 at the close of the first quarter but rallied in the second frame to gain a one-point edge, 19 to 18, at the intermission. The Baptists again took the lead at the end of the third period, 28 to 21.

Niles Folds Up

Niles folded up in the final frame to lose to Youngstown in the McKinley High basketball tournament. The McKinley cagers had their Youngstown opponent throughout the period and looked like a certain winner until they faltered in the final frame to permit Rayen to win 33 to 31.

Niles was out in front, 11 to 8, at the close of the first period, 13 at half time, and 26 to 18 at the end of the third quarter.

Rayen players, Pollino and Roberts, were removed from the game in the final period on technical fouls.

ENGLISH PLAY NEW TEST FOR PATTY BERG, 17

Curtis Cup Team Selection Makes Girl Youngest Internationalist

(By United Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 6.—Red-haired Patty Berg, with a mannish swing, in less than a year has clubbed her way to a dominant position on the women's golf front.

Tom-boyish and energetic, the 17-year-old, freckle-faced girl from Interlachen, Country Club has completed in six major tournaments during her meteoric career and has been a finalist in each one. Despite her recent arrival on the scene of women's golf, Miss Berg has won a place on the Curtis cup team which sails for England in April. She is golf's youngest internationalist.

Patty flashed into prominence in the Trans-Mississippi meet last year. In that tourney she battled through to the finals only to fall before the accurate strokes of smiling Marion Miley.

Winning March Started

Her success there was the torch that set her rocketing through the ranks of the nation's foremost women golfers. Entering her own state tournament, she far outclassed the field and swept to an easy victory in the finals.

Shortly after the state meet, Patty entered the 1935 national tourney. More or less a dark horse, she slashed her way through the national field to meet Glenna Collett Vare in the finals. Miss Vare proved too strong, and defeated her in a close match.

Then came the winter matches in Florida early this year, and Patty's chance to stage the upsets which caused a mild sensation in the golf world.

Defeated Mrs. Crews

Patty took the green against a strong field at Punta Gorda and quickly lopped off early opponents to meet Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews in the finals. The veteran and the younger battled on even grounds for three-quarters of the match, and then the relentless stroking of Miss Berg overpowered her older rival.

Shortly afterward, Patty gained long-awaited revenge in the Biltmore meet at Miami when she breezed through another strong field to meet the consistent Miss Miley. Marie stayed with the impressive Patty until the young lass shook her with an iron-nerved game in the final holes.

Next came the Palm Beach tourney, in which Patty again battled through to the finals. While she lost the play-off to Mrs. Crews, Patty evened up her score with the national woman ace, Glenna Collett Vare, defeating her in the quarter-finals of that meet.

Has Champion's Attributes

Fairway critics believe that Patty's success is not premature. They agree she has the talent, the nerve and the temperament of a champion.

No early tournament match has been a set-up for her. She plays every hole with a determined, planned stroke.

Where other golfers tend to relax, Miss Berg bears down. She has "out-gained" virtually every veteran who has crossed her path. In most of her half dozen tourneys in big time Patty has come from behind to win.

She does not pulse over the tee with the common feminine hesitancy. Instead she strides to the ball, gauges her distance and lives off with masculine form.

Gets Olympic Meet

KENT, March 6.—Wrestlers from Ohio and seven other middle western states will compete here March 27 and 28 during semi-final try-outs for the U. S. Olympic squad, said R. G. Clapp, chairman, today.

Shows Batting Power

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Joe Glenn, the loquacious catcher of the Yankees, is showing plenty of power with the hickory these days. He was slashing some vicious drives through the mud and rain yesterday.

Back To Knuckle Ball

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Emil Leonard, the chubby Belgian of the Dodgers, is going to throw plenty of knuckle balls during the training season, whether the heavy clouters break their bats or not. Leonard won only two games last year and he thinks that part of the reason might be that he laid off the knuckler just so the boys wouldn't split their favorite sticks last spring.

Starts Hollingsworth Today

MIAMI, Fla.—Acting Manager Tom Sheehan of the Reds plans to start Al Hollingsworth, portside, against the Mackmen in the first of three scheduled games today, following with Don Brennan or Si Johnson. Sheehan says the Reds are "getting there."

Indians To Use Young Pitchers

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Manager Steve O'Neil of the Indians expects to use every one of his outfielders and infielders in the first game of the spring with New Orleans Saturday but intends to use only three young pitchers: Al Milnar, Denny Galehouse and Walter Tauscher.

Elated Over Joe Kuhel

ORLANDO, Fla.—Manager Bucky Harris of the Senators is frankly elated over the form First Baseman Joe Kuhel is showing after a winter operation.

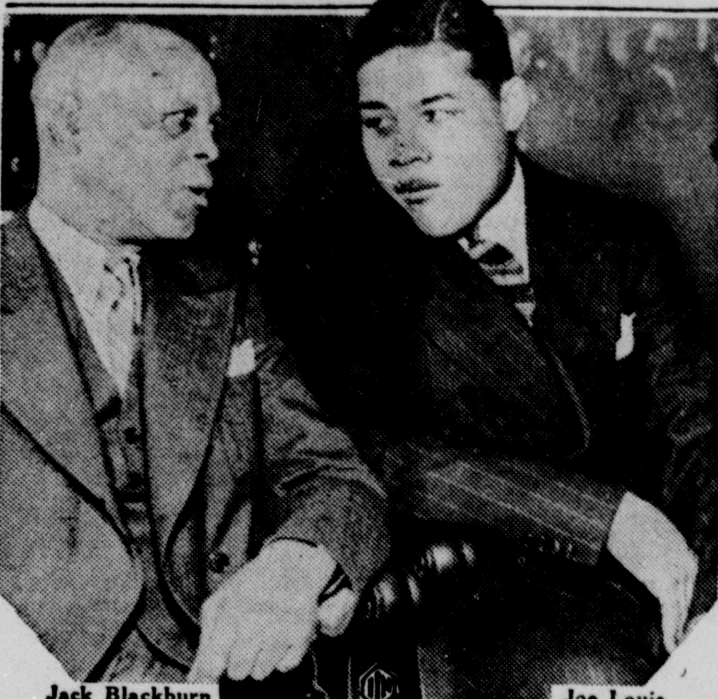

English Gets Sore Arm

AVAILON, Calif.—Captain Woody English, utility infielder who has a sore arm, played right field for the Cubs Yarnigans as they lost 2-7 to the Regulars. Larry French and Bill Lee pitched for the Yarnigans while Clay Bryant and Clauson Vines worked for the regulars.

Bonura Still Says "No"

PASADENA, Calif.—Holdout Zek Bonura at New Orleans has wired "no" to an $8,500 offer by Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox. Dykes said he would continue to use Mule Haas at first and leave Bonura's demand of $15,000 to owner J. Louis Comiskey.

Louis Attends Trainer's Trial

Joe Louis, right, sensational heavyweight boxer, shelved his customary role of principal to become second to his trainer, Jack Blackburn, left, when the latter went on trial in Chicago on charges of assault to kill in connection with the fatal shooting of a Negro who was caught in the cross-fire of a gun duel between Blackburn and two others.

Famous Bowling Star To Appear In Salem Monday

"Andy" Varipapa Brings Repertoire of Trick and Fancy Shots to Grate Recreation Parlor

Bringing with him a repertoire of trick and fancy shots, Andrew (Andy) Varipapa, sensational bowling star from Brooklyn, comes to Salem Monday to roll a series of exhibition matches with local keglers at the Grate Recreation parlor.

Acclaimed one of the nation's best bowlers, Varipapa has 30 perfect games of 300 to his credit and also holds the world's record exhibition average of 257 1-3 for six games. The latter record is held by the American Bowling Congress.

The Brooklyn Italian's trick shots, which have been featured in a movie short "Strikes and Spares" are said to be unequalled in bowling circles. In one of his best stunts, Varipapa places the No. 7 pin on one alley and the No. 10 pin on an adjoining alley and knocks both of the maples down by only rolling one ball.

How It's Done

The trick is performed by setting an object pin approximately 10 feet in front of the No. 7 pin and rolling a ball with such force that it bounces the object pin over onto the adjoining alley to knock down the No. 10 maple and then hooks to the left to sweep the No. 7 pin.

Another of Varipapa's famous tricks is to make a lane of pins from the center of the alley to the pits, leaving No. 7 in its proper place, and then roll a sweeping hook through the lane to drop the lone pin.

The Brooklynite will roll against five bowlers, two games each, during his exhibition Monday night. He will also be at the Grate alleys in the afternoon to give instruction to bowlers who seek to improve their game.

MOUNT PLAYER IS PICKED ON ALL-OHIO FIVE

Gordon Swope Wins berth On Associated Press Honor Quintet

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, March 6.—A guard and a forward from Marietta, a center from Otterbein, a forward from Wooster, and a guard from Mt. Union reigned today as the outstanding basketball stars of the Ohio conference.

They won first place berths on the all-league quintet selected for the Associated Press by the conference coaches, officials and sports writers.

Swope Is Captain

Gordon Swope, stellar guard of Mt. Union, led the list in votes and won the honorary captaincy. John Bowser, captain and defensive star of the champion Marietta Pioneers won the other guard job.

George (Sm) Loucks of Otterbein, six-foot four-inch Giant, was rated the outstanding center despite the fact he was outplayed and outscored by Mealy of Muskingum in the final Cardinal game of the year. Mealy was placed on the third team, and Fenton of Marietta named tip-off man on the second.

Two Sophomore stars of the first magnitude, Jimmy Whiting of Marietta and Nick Frascaia of Wooster, snatched the forward berths from more experienced rivals. Their scoring record, and all-around sterling play, won the berths for the first-year men. Frascaia nicked the basket for 262 points to lead the state in scoring, while Whiting led the Pioneers to the state title by bagging 203.

As a whole the team scored 948 points—one of the most impressive totals ever run up by the honorary aggregation. Loucks scored 179 points, Bowser 176, and Swope 128.

Average Over Six Feet

The first team averages well over six feet in height. Swope is the smallest at 5 feet 10 inches. All the others are in the "giant" class.

The closest battle in years marked the vote for the center job, with Loucks winning by the narrowest of margins. Fenton was just a vote ahead of Mealy for the second string job.

The other first stringers won their berths in impressive style, but the voting was close for the runner-up jobs. Rutter of Otterbein and Harden of Muskingum won the second team forward positions, with Hensal of Akron and Flor-

Snively Resigns As Shaw Hi Coach

CLEVELAND, March 6.—John L. Snively, football coach at Shaw High for 14 years and former coach at Massillon High for seven years, resigned yesterday. He plans to resume post graduate work toward an M. A. degree at Western Reserve. Snively's team lost eight games last season and was defeated by Lorain 70-0. In other years, however, he had turned out several exceptional teams. He is a graduate of Otterbein college.

TOLEDO WOOS GRIDIRON FAME UNDER SPEARS

College Hopes To Build Big Time Team With New Mentor

(By United Press)

TOLEDO, March 6.—When Dr. Clarence Wiley Spears, deposed University of Wisconsin football mentor, puts his massive shoulder to the University of Toledo grid machine he will find:

A new $100,000 stadium under construction.

An enthused citizenry of 300,000 happy at the quick twist of luck which is bringing a "name" coach to an obscure municipal institution.

A dearth of grid material and an unimposing 1936 schedule.

That the stocky doctor's coming here will bring big-time football eventually to northwestern Ohio is believed certain by Toledoans from the university's 2,220 students down to the "downtown coaches." But Spears himself and the university have not yet shaped definite plans for his mission here.

Salary Only $4,100

The university still is catching its breath at the turn of fortune which is bringing a $10,000 Big Ten coach to an Ohio Conference school for $4,100.

Spears himself has just returned to Toledo from Madison and is awaiting spring football practice weather. His one-year contract officially does not begin until July 1.

In a round of informal gatherings with players and trainers, Dr. Spears was interested most in asking, "Who've you on hand who can do some passing?"

It happens there is no one. Jerry Wellington and John Wichter, 1935 flingers, are gone.

The new stadium will seat 6,000, can be enlarged to accommodate 12,000 if necessary.

Here, Spears succeeds James A. Nicholson, who resigned to practice law in Toledo. He was scooped up by university trustees and named coach unanimously, less than a week after his discharge at Wisconsin.

Bits of Sports In Ohio Circles

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
They're raising a new crop of basketball players down in those Lawrence county hills and they call this one the "Waterloo Wonders No. 2."

Maybe there's something about the air . . . among these knobs. Or maybe Magellan Hairston, the coach . . . has something on the ball that other mentors haven't learned.

Anyway . . . as the original Wonders begin to fade a bit under assertions of professionalism, Hairston comes up with a new edition.

Not as good as the "originals" perhaps, but plenty good enough to win the Lawrence county Class "B" crown . . . and start in where the former champs left off.

The new "Wonders" won the county crown by defeating Kilts Hill 27 to 10 in the first round, romping over Windsor 45 to 10 in the second, and Rome 36 to 9 in the finals.

Simple addition shows the new "Wonders" scored 108 points to 29 for the foe . . . and the originals couldn't have done much better.

The "Wonders No. 1" looked on as "Wonders No. 2" ran away with the crown. Centerville is the first foe of the new Wonders . . . Friday afternoon . . . in the sectionals at Portsmouth.

And the betting . . . down along the river . . . is that it's Waterloo against the field . . . with the chances the new Wonders will be back in Columbus for the state tourney.

When Coach Pete McKinley of the Athens High school "Bulldogs" says he had a "50-50" basketball season you can bet he means it.

The Bulldogs played 14 games this year . . . they won seven and lost seven. And to carry on the 50-50 idea, they scored 345 points . . . and the opponents scored 345. Looks like a draw!

Kentucky is taking no chances on its High school teams accusing the officials of being "honors" . . . in the state basketball tourney at Lexington.

The blue grass officials skipped out of the state . . . to get its arbiters for the games . . . selecting Dick Bray and Dan Teban of Cincinnati. The tournament is scheduled March 19 to 21.

The little town of Rittman . . . up in Wayne county . . . has an idea spring is just around the corner.

Anyway . . . Richard A. Clayton of that village . . . is looking for baseball games . . . for his 17-year-old team.

Coach L. G. Boles of Wooster . . . is looking far beyond the spring and summer. It's football weather for him . . . and he has called his Scouts out for gridiron practice March 9. His big job . . . he says . . . is to find a replacement for big Ed Smith . . . 212-pound center . . . who started every game the last three seasons.

DECIDE FATE OF REDS' NEW FARM

Lary MacPhail to Give Final Decision About Middletown Club

CINCINNATI, March 6.—A mid-Atlantic league franchise for near-by Middletown, enabling the Cincinnati Reds to establish a "farm" in that industrial city, hung in the balance today, and with it the prospect for more "night baseball" for fans of this tri-state area, to be played by the minors at Crosley field here.

Frank Lane, business manager of the club, and Elmer Daily, president of the M-A loop, expressed satisfaction with the outlook.

From Miami, Fla., however, came word from Larry S. MacPhail, the Reds' general manager that "from what I know it looks very doubtful."

Has Final Word

Lane said final decision on placing the franchise rested on results of a long-distance telephone conference to be held with MacPhail today.

Agreement is needed between Middletown business leaders and Reds' officials over the size of a guarantee.

Should the deal be completed, Lane said he would seek National league executive approval of a plan whereby at least a dozen of the M-A loop schedules of 63 "home games" could be played on the Reds' ballfield, first on either major circuit to be equipped for night baseball. The Reds themselves are down for seven floodlight contests.

Ohio State Cagers Won't Try Olympics

COLUMBUS, March 6.—Ohio State university, figured as a powerful contender in the district elimination Olympic basketball tournament, joined other prominent midwestern schools today in a decision not to participate.

Coach Harold G. Olsen, announcing the withdrawal of the Buckeye school, expressed regret that the move was necessary but cited a long schedule and final examinations as reasons for the move.

Favor Patty Berg In Florida Event

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 6.—The gallery is holding to its prediction that 17-year-old Patty Berg and the seasoned Mrs. Maureen Orcutt will meet in the finals of the Florida east coast women's golf tournament here.

They are in the semi-finals now—Patty matched against the veteran Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, former western champion, and Mrs. Crews against Marion Miles of Lexington, Ky., trans-Mississippi champion.

Patty advanced to the semi-finals yesterday by taking a 5 and 3 decision over Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Crews beat out Sylvia Annenberg of Flushing, L. I., 4 and 3. It took the full round for Mrs. Hill to defeat Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., and Miss Miles shot a 79, to eliminate Jane Cotran of Greenville, S. C.

The Home Kitchen

By Jeanette Young Norton

When making up the menu it is wise to balance a heavy meal with a light dessert, and by the same token a lighter meal should be topped off by a more substantial sweet.

Today we give a group of delicious, nourishing desserts that should find favor when a heavier dessert is indicated. These desserts are all made with rice and are all tried and tested favorites.

We'll lead the procession with butterscotch rice pudding, really something different in the rice pudding line. Wash third of a cup of rice and cook until nearly tender in double boiler with two cups milk, scalded, and quarter teaspoon salt. Meanwhile cook together in a shallow pan one cup brown sugar and two tablespoons flour until mixture becomes very dark brown but not burnt. Add this to the rice and milk and finish cooking until the rice is tender and the caramel melted.

Toothsome Pudding
Most nourishing and toothsome is a pudding made with honey, rice and dates. Take two lightly-beaten eggs and mix with one cup milk. Make alternate layers of rice, dates or raisins, drizzling honey over each one of these layers. Repeat this procedure until all rice and fruit is used, using two cups cooked rice, half cup chopped dates or raisins, and third to half cup honey in all. Pour beaten eggs and milk over this mixture. Bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

A splendid dessert for the youngsters is a molded rice ring with fruit. Mix two tablespoons cornstarch and half a cup of cold milk. Heat two cups cooked rice, two cups milk, quarter cup sugar, and half teaspoon salt in a double boiler. Add the cornstarch mixed with the cold milk, and cook for 15 minutes. Fold in three beaten egg whites. Turn into a ring mold. Chill. Unmold onto a large platter and serve filled with fresh or canned fruit, and garnished with fruit.

Frozen Dessert
As we have mentioned before, frozen desserts to wind up a winter meal is no new idea with smart hostesses. Here is one that is just right to top off any meal, no matter the time of year. Scald two cups milk in upper part of double boiler. Beat two egg yolks and quarter cup sugar until light, pour milk over, then stirring continually, return to boiler and cook over hot water until mixture thickens and coats back of spoon. Add one cup cooked rice and use cup crushed pineapple and when cold, fold in one cup whipped cream. Turn into mold having tightly-fitting cover, seal and bury in equal parts of ice and salt for at least four hours, or freeze in automatic refrigerator. Unmold and serve plain or with additional crushed or sliced pineapple, if desired.

MANY PERSONS do not enjoy beer or wine at all times. It is served as a straight drink. But let these beverages become cooking ingredients and the dishes for which they are used are voted a great success.

So today we have collected a

THESE FACTS ABOUT BRAN HAVE BEEN PROVED BY TESTS

Supplies Gently Acting "Bulk" to Aid Regular Habits

Now and then, in talking with your friends, the subject of bran has come up. So that real facts might replace unsupported opinions, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years research in leading nutrition laboratories.

Studies made on a group of healthy women showed that two tablespoonsful of bran daily continued to relieve constipation over a period of months. How different from cathartics—where dosage often must be increased.

Another series of tests on men indicated that, with some people, the "bulk" in bran was much more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Further tests showed that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provided vitamin B and iron as well as "bulk." This "bulk" absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system—the right way to correct constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal, with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. It is a natural laxative food. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

bunch of splendid new recipes, all of them calling for beer, and many of them contributed by a young woman, who, with her brothers, operates one of the oldest established breweries.

For a hearty appetite, Mrs. Piel Lyne has passed on her jealously guarded recipe for German beer soup, a sure hit with stalwart males. Cook three tablespoons butter and thin slices of one medium-sized onion together in a covered pot until tender but see that the onion is not brown. Add one and a half cups of beef stock, one cup of tomato juice, one cup of beer, one teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper. Bring to the boiling point and keep hot as possible without boiling. Cutting brown toast into strips, or cubes and sprinkling it with grated Parmesan cheese adds the right touch. Float the bread on top of the soup as it is served. Although the recipe given is for six it has been found that it usually only does for four helpings, especially on cold days.

Tasty Fish Sauce
Another recipe from the same source is that of a sauce that adds that elusive something different to fish, a most useful recipe with the Lenten season at hand. Cook the sauce right with the fish. When the fish is placed in the frying pan pour in one bottle of beer; half cup finely cut onions; half cup ginger-snap crumbs; third of a cup of finely chopped celery and some salt and pepper. Cook slowly until the fish is well done. Strain the broth from the pan. Cook in uncovered pans until broth is thick. Then add two tablespoons melted butter and pour over fish. Add parsley. This will give a new flavor to fish.

Ideal for luncheon is a delectable dish of dried beef cooked with beer. This is so novel that it would be splendid for a company luncheon. Tear into small pieces quarter pound of dried beef and place the meat in a pan of cold water. Bring to a boil, then drain. Brown the beef in four tablespoons of butter in frying pan. Add four tablespoons flour and mix well. Add one pint of milk, then contents of one bottle of beer and stir until mixture thickens. Cook over flame for five minutes. Remove to top of double boiler and there keep hot until it is served on toast.

Hollywood Beckons to Headliners of Radio

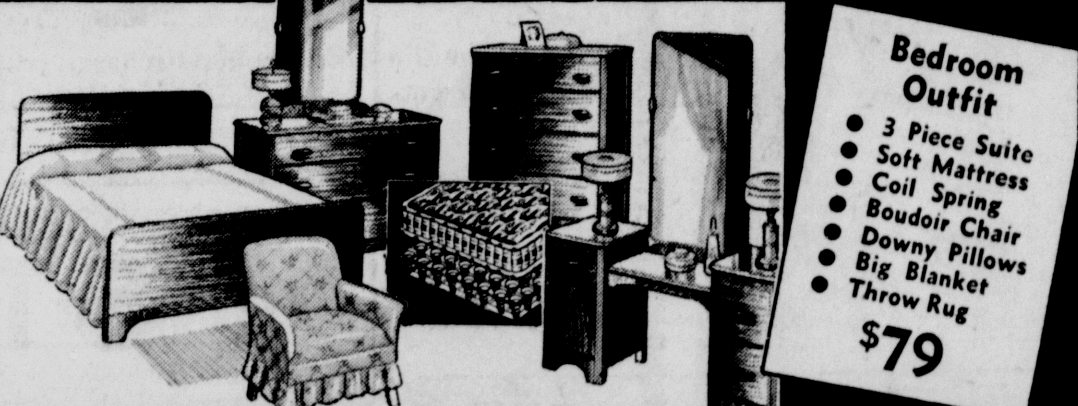

Hollywood's recent raids on headliners of the opera world are now being duplicated among radio stars who are flocking to the film colony in increasing numbers. Jane Froman, Harriet Hilliard, Dorothy Lamour, Annette Henshaw and Loretta Lee are celebrities of the air waves who have answered the summons of movie magnates. The increasing number of musical comedies which are being filmed has given attractive radio artists their big chance. Their future is further brightened by the prospect of the early advent of television. The radically different technique and requirements of the movies, in comparison to the radio studio, has spelled defeat, however, for some radio stars who have found the screen a poor outlet for their particular type of talent.

"HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY"

by MAXINE CANTY

The silence now was the Inspector's. When he spoke again, his voice was not so insistent. It was low, steady, cool. It had a calming effect upon Perkins.

"When you told Miss Sinclair that you loved her, and that you found her extraordinarily beautiful, she told you she was engaged. You say that you told her that all was not well between her and her fiancé. Most men might have taken hope at that, might have asked her to marry them in spite of the engagement. It occurred to me to wonder what you found in that situation to make you so violent."

Perkins shifted in his chair again. His terror had passed; his voice held only surrender.

"My despair was not because of her engagement. It arose from my own situation. In the fifteen minutes I was there, I realized that Constance Sinclair was the one person in the world I wanted to be my wife, and that she was way beyond my reach forever."

"Why?"

"Because—because I am already a married man."

Perkins was taken away without further questioning, much to my disappointment as I wanted to know where Mrs. Perkins was. As I was "released" from my cubby-hole, I went on the hunt for O'Brien. Why he had dropped the matter so quickly, but his expression was forbidding. He scarcely seemed to see me, saying over his shoulder as an after-thought, "be back here at 1:30."

That didn't give much time for lunch so I ate at my favorite drug-store. I was glad no one I knew came in, for I had plenty to think about. I felt that the end was near. One-third would see the show-down. I knew the Inspector had laid his plans even as Perkins was talking. Had he made up his mind to arrest Perkins or Bruce? Or was it one of the others? So far as I was concerned, the cases against them were too good. I couldn't have chosen between them as a bet, between Perkins and Lloyd, I mean. To me it was just as confusing as it had been at first all this additional information had not helped to narrow the search to any one of the suspects.

I wondered how the Inspector would go about making his decision—picking the "winner," so to speak. The only mystery story I had ever read completely through was "The Poisoned Letter." In that the criminal had stolen this letter and concealed it so successfully that the most thorough searches failed to reveal its hiding place. In the end, it was found to have been in clear sight, on the mantelpiece, I think, right where any person entering the room could see it, but where no one thought of looking, it was so obvious.

Where would the trail of the obvious lead me in this case? As I ate my second chocolate sundae, I went over every detail from the beginning. All of these six persons, Allen, Hym, Mrs. Carrington, Melvin, Perkins and Bruce had appeared guilty from the start. All of them had tried to evade discovery, had tried to hide themselves as it were. Each of them had the motive and the opportunity, it was found after investigation. Who had tried to conceal nothing? Who had the least apparent motive, the most natural opportunity?

Like a searchlight from out of dark storm clouds came my answer. I gave a little squeak that drew amused glances; from other soda-gobblers, threw fifty cents on the counter and left half the syrup in my sundae dish. I ran all the way to the Inspector's office. Breathless and flushed and incoherent, I asked for O'Brien. But I was too late. He was in "conference." Soon Atwater came out of his office and told me I was to enter; he sat down outside.

I went through the door excitedly, my great "news" on my lips. But then I had my next surprise. The Inspector was not alone. Near the doors and windows were several detectives, and ranged around were all six of the murder suspects, including Allen. O'Brien was all policeman, stern, brusque, non-committal.

He nodded to me. "Good afternoon, Miss Martin. You will find notebook and pencils on that desk," waving to the small one in the corner. "You will please take down the proceedings."

"Yes, sir," I answered briefly.

I exchanged glances with Allen, who was worried. I knew. He raised his eyebrows at me; I shrugged my shoulders. I had no idea what was going to happen.

O'Brien sat at his desk, facing all the persons gathered before him. A lawyer sat beside Mrs. Carrington, another next to Bruce, indicating that my father had relinquished the case, and a man who looked like a "shyster" near Melvin. They were all on the alert, all cautious and antagonistic. I wondered why Perkins had not sent for an attorney.

The Inspector looked as if he were going to make a speech. He had some papers before him on the desk to which he referred now and then. For the most part he looked from one to the other of the suspects with hard, glaring eyes.

"Today is the second of December. Since the night of the twentieth of October, we have been looking for the murderer of Miss Constance Sinclair. By diligent search and unflinching effort, we have pieced together the inner happenings of her life, have fitted the puzzle of your relationships to her into a picture that is almost complete. The process has been unpleasant for all of us; it has disrupted the lives of you all and of the persons near to you. Ugly emotions and unworthy actions have been revealed. Each of you has tried to protect himself or herself from this revelation. Each of you has been ashamed of the part you played in this young woman's life."

"You," he pointed at Hym, "had the least personal connection with her. But you resented a just reprimand; you were completely selfish in your attitude toward the victim. You admit that you arrived within ten or fifteen minutes of her death, her, and you did not even report the tragedy. Instead, you ran away."

"That running away might easily point to your own guilt. You were between nine-fifteen and nine-thirty, the very moments in which she died. You had as your motive—revenge!"

The look from Hym's eyes at that moment was that of hate, but his attitude remained cringing and subjective.

"You," said the Inspector, assuming the role of Fate as he shifted his pointed finger to Allen, "were infatuated with this woman so many years older than you. You were jealous of her engagement to Mr."

Lloyd; you were presumptuous in your conversation and demands upon her, for which she properly reprimanded you. Your egoism was hurt, your infatuation augmented, and your jealousy amounted to a frenzy. You are known to be highly nervous; perhaps it would not be wrong to say at times that neuroticism amounts to a pathological stage in which you might easily be capable of murder!"

"You came to see Miss Sinclair that night. You say that you found her dead. There is no reason to believe you, no reason why we cannot believe that you arrived earlier, committed the crime, hid during Hym's visit and then made your escape to San Francisco. There your reason gained the better of you. Some innate decency caused you to report the crime to us. Some reasoning power told you to return and take up your normal life. But you concealed your identity in the telephone report; you refused to reveal any connection between you and Miss Sinclair. As a murder victim, she was no longer the object of your infatuation!"

O'Brien was cruel. He looked like an animal betrayed by his master. The others, to whom Allen's part in the affair was a surprise, regarded him with mingled astonishment and curiosity.

But the Inspector's finger moved on to Melvin.

"You," he stated with great scorn, "were befriended by Miss Sinclair. You betrayed her trust, and when she meted out justice to you, you gave her hate. Your highest ideal is personified in your tough and criminal friends. This upright and honest woman stood between you and a career of crime on which you were eager to embark. You swarmed, you drank booze, and you packed a gun; thus did you pass your initiation with your gangland pals. You quarreled with the woman who stood in the way of your first 'big chance' to rob and terrorize. The gun you carried could have shot the bullet, could have taken the life of the person who was your obstacle. Murder instead of robbery may have been your first venture into crime!"

Melvin's attempt to sneer, to bluff, was not very successful. He was resentful, but he was also scared.

Prison Bars Are Broken

Waving his basket to the waiting crowd, one of Spain's 30,000 political prisoners is shown leaving jail at Barcelona, freed by the decree of amnesty which followed leftist victories in the recent general elections.

STOCKTON, Cal.—When Charles Monk, newly appointed policeman, most damaged one of the two that filed his first automobile accident report, he named himself as the victim, and the patrol car as the colluded. He reported that the fault was not his.

Deaf Woman Now Hears On Telephone

"I have been hard of hearing for 8 years," writes Mrs. Sturdevant, of Mayville, N. Y. "I could not talk over the telephone. Last year I obtained OURLINE. My hearing has improved so that I can talk over the phone as well as I ever could." OURLINE was originated by a European ear specialist, for those who are hard of hearing, bothered by head noises, earache, ringing and buzzing in ears, sick with the dread of approaching deafness. Get quick relief with OURLINE today. It's easy to use—costs only a few cents daily. Money back if not satisfied. Flooding & Reynard, Druggist. — Adv.

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

IN NEW YORK, where pickets are stationed in front of many apartment buildings, announcing a strike, interesting pamphlets, signed by the Communist party, are distributed, urging the men to fight it out.

James J. Bambrick, in charge of the strike, a man of few words, told a strike gathering on Tuesday:

"If they don't come across by tomorrow, we are going to give the order to tear down the entire town."

His audience, dispersing, smashed the glass doors of nine Park Avenue apartment houses.

Mr. Bambrick says that if necessary he will call a general strike and tie up all New York in a way that would make the San Francisco strike look like child's play.

NEW YORK'S Court of Appeals declares the minimum wage law for women unconstitutional. This might puzzle angels above, "wage" being only another word for food, clothing, lodging.

If a man worked a horse for profit, law would compel him to give that horse a minimum of oats and protection from the cold. No one would call that unconstitutional.

A horse is different from a woman. If he who hires her can make her work for less than it takes to keep her decently alive, you must not interfere with that.

THE COURT decided, 4 to 3. Women will be grateful to Judge Lehman for his dissenting opinion. He sees a "vicious chain of results." He thinks the law is entitled to protect "the health of the underpaid woman."

WHILE compelling corporations, that build industries and hire men, to distribute profits as fast as earned or pay a confiscatory tax on accumulations, government will realize that the bigger the corporation and the bigger its payroll, the more liquid cash it must keep on hand for emergencies.

A concrete example: Henry Ford, who has paid out billions in good wages, found himself suddenly compelled to change his industry radically from top to bottom, discontinuing an old model, creating and constructing new models.

When asked how much he "lost" in that transition period, Mr. Ford replied:

"I didn't lose any money, I distributed some."

The "some" that we had to have on hand, to reconstruct one of the biggest businesses in the world, ran far above one hundred million dollars, undoubtedly.

Had he been compelled to pay out money in dividends as fast as he got it, he might have shut down his business; he could not have reorganized it.

Industry, with its ups and downs, is like a caravan crossing the desert. You must allow the caravan to carry a little water along with it, for safety, and let the corporation carry along some cash.

WALL STREET still seems to like President Roosevelt's new plan for taxing corporations, with almost confiscation taxes if they do not distribute profits promptly and give the government a chance to tax the distribution. Stocks were up again yesterday.

ACCORDING to Mr. Roy W. Howard, who has talked to him in Moscow, Stalin says he would go to war with Japan, if necessary, to protect Outer Mongolia, which he calls the Mongolian people's republic.

Stalin's flat warning, "Japan cannot expand in my direction without fighting," may clear up that eastern situation. A dictator must keep to his word.

Japan can have war if she wants it, a good deal of war, and Japan would not find the same old Russia.

WHENCE DOES all the money come? Government wanted 1.4 millions at low interest rates; 656 millions in bonds, 600 millions in Treasury notes.

The public offers to buy seven times as many bonds and five times as many notes as were offered, or seven thousand five hundred millions worth. The banks are stuffed with money, the government has learned to print "inflation bonds" and that makes credit easy for the government.

Soviet Launches Campaign to Rule the Air

Indications that Russia regards war as imminent in Europe are found in a campaign to train at least one pilot for every 1,000 inhabitants of the Soviet Union. Such a program would give the Soviets a flying force of 165,000. As photos show Russia already is paying great attention to her air fleet. Above (left), a woman pilot; (right), a Soviet fighting plane; below (left), a Russian parachute jumper and (right), an aerial machine gunner.

ETHIOPIAN news indicates that Haile Selassie and his armies have practically given up attempts to resist Italy's invasion. Haile Selassie might have known that he could not resist modern weapons.

During the last fifty years the Ethiopian government has been able to seize and keep the lands of many neighboring tribes because, thanks to the slave trade, it had money to buy guns and powder and easily slaughtered primitive tribesmen with only home-made spears. Italy's job is now one of colonization, rather than fighting, but tropical rains will interfere with that.
